

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

- Urbanization as a public health challenge (according WHO) 8
-

REVIEW

- Health technology assessment 16
Gintarė Petronytė, Vytautas Jurkuvėnas
- Work-related diseases 24
Saulius Vainauskas, Ilona Burkauskienė, Rasa Venckienė, Vilma Šimkienė, Vidmantas Januškevičius, Paulius Vasilavičius
- The prevalence of formaldehyde in ambient air in the countries of the European Union and the reduction of its exposure 34
Lolita Pilipavičienė, Gražina Smolianskienė
- Epidemiology of food allergy: risk factors, prevalence, significance 44
Andrius Kavaliūnas, Genė Šurkienė, Rūta Dubakienė, Rimantas Stukas
- Informed consent: what should the research participants know and what do they really understand about research? 52
Asta Čekanauskaitė, Eugenijus Gefenas
-

ORIGINAL ARTICLES

- Incidence of disability from cardiovascular diseases between able-bodied population in Lithuania and inequalities in different districts in 2006–2008 61
Alvydas Vitkauskas, Romualdas Gurevičius
- Evaluation of attitudes of health professionals' to adverse events and their causes 71
Virginija Kanapeckienė, Vytautas Jurkuvėnas
- Health care professionals attitude towards antibiotic use and it influencing factors in Lithuanian acute hospitals 79
Asta Jurkevičienė, Rolanda Valintėlienė, Aušra Beržanskytė
- Self-rated health and its changes of patients ill with depression and schizophrenia during hospital treatment 89
Antanas Goštautas, Brigita Miežienė, Justina Stakauskaitė, Tatjana Volkovienė, Edita Ivinkina
- Opportunities of young people with light mental disabilities to participate in work activity 99
Reda Lagūnaitė, Apolinaras Zaborskis
- Relationship between the intensity of using information technologies and psychological characteristics and perceived social support in a sample of 6–10th form schoolchildren 110
Loreta Gustainienė, Jovita Petruškevičiūtė
- Dynamical differences in blood parameters related to content of cycling practices 117
Anatoli Landör, Jelena Vider, Muza Lepik, Jaak Maaros, Audrius Gocentas
-

FOR PUBLIC HEALTH PRACTICE

- Project „Postgraduate training of public health specialists and nurses, involved in reducing mortality and morbidity from leading noninfectious diseases“ 118
- Basic Occupational Health Services – Strategy, Structures, Activities, Resources 120
- New recommendations „Diagnostics and Antibacterial Treatment of Upper Respiratory Tract Infections“ 122
-

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Standard deviation and standard error. What they mean and when to use each? 123
- Information to authors 126